Farah Law School 1st Virtual Lecture, Thesis Lecture: The Utilization of Lunar Natural Resources by Countries, In Celebration of the International Moon Day

EVENT SUMMARY

1. Background

The use of natural resources expanded into outer space. The progress of space activities has led to initiatives by countries through the United Nations to adopt various international instruments, including the 1979 Moon Agreement. Article 11 of the 1979 Moon Agreement regulates the utilization of lunar natural resources exclusively based on the Common Heritage of Mankind principle. However, it creates multiple interpretations. The event aims to analyze the basis of the obscurity of Article 11 of the 1979 Moon Agreement and the renewal provisions for natural resources on the moon.

2. Scope

Open for 100 global participants. The lecture applies English interaction. The topic is limited to the exploration and exploitation of lunar natural resources, especially in Article 11 of the 1979 Moon Agreement context.

2. Organizer

Based on the event and the participant, we received positive feedback from the majority of the participants regarding the materials and the overall schedule. However, we need to improve:

- a. Direct key speech from the partners
- b. Longer duration of the lecture
- c. Bahasa Indonesia translation or translator
- d. Include general vocabulary rather legalese during the presentation

Thank you.
